BACKGROUND: In June of 2014 Kathy Booth and I entertained conversations to see about how we could work together to move forward on this resolution. The CCCC LaunchBoard project was already in development for CTE and EWD programs so it was logical to use it as an investigative platform for presenting potential datasets and other research tools identified by CTE stakeholders as useful and informative to their local program review processes.

The included draft Rostrum article describes the project and potential next steps. A top priority in these next steps could include the ASCCC as a partner in convening faculty and stakeholder input groups to further investigate the types of inquiry needed for CTE programs to effectively improve themselves. Resources will need to be identified and further action will need to be taken by the Executive Committee to expand the ASCCC's participation as these resources are identified.

At this time the goal of this agenda item is to inform, to get input and to check in with the Executive Committee to ascertain that the current direction is appropriate.

¹ Staff will review your item and provide additional resources to inform the Executive Committee discussion.
