Enrollment is down, and now more than ever student retention, persistence, and success are concerns we all share. SCC Counselors are ready to assist any and all students in meeting this challenge. As presented by the Counseling Department Chair at the recent February Joint Chairs Meeting, for students who cannot visit the Counseling office for a variety of reasons, counselors are attempting to meet them where they are at this semester—the classroom. In an effort to reach the largest number of students possible, counselors will be seeking to visit as many classes across campus as possible to provide a brief 5-10 minute presentation on the importance of education planning and its relationship to college success. While the limited number of counselors will not be able to visit all classes, they will personally contact as many instructors as possible to work on scheduling class visits.

I encourage you to welcome a counselor into your classroom for a brief visit when called upon. In this way we can help ensure that each student has a plan in place to foster persistence, academic goal attainment, and success.
